Project Resource Management

This is where the resource needs of a specific project are met by a service provider.

Traditional IT service providers charge a premium for supplying and managing project resources, this is because they have high salary costs or are sub-contracting the resourcing to companies like NST Recruitment.

This elongated supply chain creates unnecessary cost to you, which is justified by the service provider by applying a 'service wrap' to the resources provided.

NST Recruitment works collaboratively with you and your organization.

We are able to provide and manage resources on a project basis at a significantly reduced cost to traditional IT service providers.

What is more, we are able to provide project IT resources direct to you with agreed SLAs and KPIs, in effect a mini-managed service.

Key to a successful project is collaborative working between your IT team, the NST Recruitment project delivery team and of course the IT project resources provided.
